CREAM OF NEWS.

Will Study Law—Poisoning Case—The Growing Deficit—Preacher Fined—Court News—Campaign Items.

Given 100 Days.

George Reese, the colored boy, charged with striking with intent to kill another negro, was convicted and given 100 days in the work house.

Preacher Fined $50.

Henry, alias "Mort" Williams, the colored preacher, of Fairview, arrested here on a charge of rape, had his examining trial Tuesday, and the case was dismissed. Defendant admitted that he was guilty of adultery and he was fined $50 and costs for this offense. He failed to settle up and was sent out to the work house.

Diagnosed Speaks Nov. 1st.

Mr. Geo. C. Diquid, of Murray, independent Populist candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, is billed to speak here Nov. 1st. It is understood that he will spend some time in the northern part of the county the last week in the campaign, but his appointments have not been announced.

Attempted Poisoning.

Princeton, Ky., Oct. 20.—The grand jury returned an indictment against Mat Blakely and Jennie Blakely, charging them with attempting to poison the family of L. Y. Pollard, by sprinkling paris green in a well. Pollard's wife went to the well for a bucket of water. Noticing the peculiar color of the water she called her husband. On investigation the poison was discovered. The court ordered a bench warrant to be issued instantly, and the Sheriff sent and got the parties, and they are now in jail.

It is thought other parties are implicated, and a thorough investigation will be had. Pollard is witness against parties in other indictments now pending.

Not a Campaign Speech.

The statement that John Feland, Jr., made a speech at the court house Saturday afternoon in the interest of the Republican ticket was a mistake. Mr. Feland made a speech, but the reporter was misinformed as to the character of it. His address was the closing argument in the McComb's case and was not of a political nature. Mr. Feland has not made any political speeches this season and has not no appointments. While in Louisville Monday his shoulder was dislocated and he is still suffering from his injury. While sitting in the court room, one leg of his chair slipped off the edge of a platform, throwing him down several steps, injuring him as above stated. It is not likely that he will be heard on the stump this fall.

These Are Republican Figures.

Auditor Stone has published a report showing the growth of the treasury deficit in two years. June 30, 1895, it was $426,276.39.

This was due principally to the constitutional convention and the long legislative session following it and some of it to the unrecovered portion of the Tate defalcation. This deficit handed over by the Democrats has been covered by a part of the recent bond issue.

June 30, 1896, the deficit under Republicanism had increased to $1,055,037.05. June 30, 1897, it had still further grown to $1,520,138.37. This amount has been reduced as above stated $500,000 by the sale of bonds, leaving a deficit of more than $1,000,000, every dollar of which has been created in two years of Republican misrule. No wonder it was necessary to increase the tax rate 23 per cent. The State will be fortunate if it is not bankrupted in the two years yet to come before a Democratic administration can be elected.

Circuit Court Matters.

Abe Smith, col., was convicted of housebreaking and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

At the instance of the attorneys for the defense, the case against Bud Garth, etc., charged with burglarizing the dwelling house of Mr. Jas. M. Green several months ago, was continued. Defendants were unable to furnish bond and were sent back to jail.

Ed. Evans, col., was given two years on a charge of housebreaking. Roy Boales, col., indicted for malicious cutting, was convicted of cutting in sudden heat and passion, and sent to the work house for six months.

The jury in the case of Chas. Chambers, col., indicted for barn burning, returned a verdict of not guilty and he was discharged from custody.

The case of Will Woods, col., charged with willful murder, was called yesterday, and continued until the next term.

To-day and to-morrow will be taken up with Commonwealth cases.

FLORIDA TOBACCO CROWERS.

Held a Meeting at the Centennial Wednesday.

The Nashville American of Wednesday gave this account of a meeting of tobacco men from Florida:

This morning the Florida Tobacco Growers will assemble at the Plant System space, in the Agricultural Building, to receive and welcome all who care to view the exhibit of Florida tobacco, or care to make any inquiries about Florida or her great tobacco industry.

The exhibit is a very creditable one, and is decidedly interesting. The tobacco show is the very highest grade cigar leaf tobacco. Its texture, aroma and colors are all calculated to catch the fancy of the American public, and establish Florida tobacco in the place so long occupied by the Cuban product. Before the war Florida tobacco was famous. It was largely sold in Germany and the veterans in the trade can recall incidents of the Florida speckled leaf bringing fabulous prices. This same speckled leaf forms a large part of the present crop and can be seen on exhibition to-day.

An interesting study can be made to-day by those in our own and adjoining States. The Florida tobacco growers receive on an average 40 cents a pound for their pole cured tobacco, and those who are able to carry it through the final curing process have obtained an average of $1 a pound. An acre will produce 700 pounds of tobacco, twice a year, in South Florida, showing a handsome profit for those who engage in its culture.

PULLMAN DEAD.

THE PALACE CAR MILLIONAIRE PASSES AWAY AGED 66 YEARS.

Family Absent at the Time of the Tragic Event.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—George M. Pullman, the palace car magnate, died at his residence, Eighteenth street and Prairie avenue, this city, at 5 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Pullman, who was in his 66th year, had not been enjoying his usual good health during the summer. The extreme heat of last week greatly aggravated his disease, known to medical science as angina pectoris. But no serious trouble was anticipated. Mr. Pullman was at his office in the Pullman building daily, and dined yesterday with his friends at his club. Later in the evening he remarked having a slight pain in the back. He retired at his usual early hour.

At 4 o'clock members of the household were awakened by a disturbance in Mr. Pullman's chamber, and upon entering found him dazed and apparently suffering excruciating pains in the region of the heart. Rev. R. M. Eaton, who was visiting Mr. Pullman, called Dr. Frank Billings, the family physician. Restoratives were applied, but to no purpose, and at 5 o'clock the millionaire manufacturer and philanthropist, passed away without speaking, and with scarcely a struggle.

Mrs. Pullman, who, with her two sons, George and Sanger, has been on an Eastern tour, was wired at once, and no funeral arrangements will be made until she arrives.

George M. Pullman came to Chicago in 1859. He at once took a prominent place in business circles. In 1880, owing to the growing demands of his manufacturing interests, he put into execution a pet theory for the establishment of a "model town" as a home for his car works and the thousands of employees. A site was selected on the shores of Lake Calumet, twelve miles south of Chicago. Mr. Pullman devoted his personal attention to the erection of the little city, and succeeded even beyond his own expectations in making it a model town. Pullman now has a population of 11,000.

Mr. Pullman was married in 1867 to Miss Hattie Sanger, of Chicago. Four children are living, George, Sanger, Harriet and Florence. The latter was married to Frank O. Lowden, of this city, two years ago.

Mr. Pullman's fortune is variously estimated at from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000.

George Mortimer Pullman was born in Chautauque County, N. Y., March 3, 1831. At 14 he began life as a clerk in a country store, later associating himself with an older brother in the cabinet-making business at Albion. He came to Chicago in 1859, and at first engaged in the business of raising buildings, elevating entire blocks a number of feet to bring them up to the new street grades. While riding in an old fashion sleeping car from Buffalo to Westfield, N. Y., it occurred to him that there was a field for building comfortable sleeping coaches. From 1859 to 1863 he made a series of experiments on the Chicago & Alton and Galena Roads. From these experiments he worked out detail plans. A work shop was rented, skilled mechanics employed, and Mr. Pullman threw himself into the task with the ardor of a man who moves from settled convictions. Although without mechanical training himself he personally directed the work of others in all the minor details of putting the ideas he had originated into material form.

The first car, the "Pioneer," was completed early in 1865, and immediately took rank as the most perfect railway vehicle the world had ever seen. This was the beginning of the Pullman system, which has grown to present enormous proportions. Mr. Pullman was identified with almost every public enterprise in Chicago.

The industrial town of Pullman, within the city limits of Chicago, now contains over 11,000 inhabitants. Mr. Pullman was a brother of the Rev. Dr. J. M. Pullman, of New York, former editor of the Christian Leader.

His financial interests were confined to a few corporations; the bulk of the holdings being stock in the Pullman Palace Car Company, of which he owned about one-fifth. Some stock was also held in Diamond Match and New York Biscuit. These securities were somewhat affected by the news of Mr. Pullman's death, but the declines were quickly recovered.

Anthony Heady, colored, was found dead in bed early yesterday morning. Annie Sloan, with whom he lived, is said to have threatened him.

The Tennessee Centennial directors have decided to close down the show on schedule time, October 30.
